President Now Preparing Note in Which He Will Tell of Contemplated Action.

TO-DAY IN MEXICO.
Wednesday developments in the Mexican situation.
The Powers interested in Mexico are planning to aid the United States in getting rid of Huerta by "moral suasion." President Wilson is at work on a note to the Powers covering the matter.
Secret plans of the United States for quick mobilization of 100,000 guardsmen, in addition to the regular army, for duty in Mexico, in case intervention is found necessary, are disclosed.
Germany and France will back up any policy formulated by the United States in regard to Mexico. It is learned from high sources.
The wives of Everette and Daniel Hadden, brothers of the ex-President, appeal to United States Consul Canada at Vera Cruz to get free trials for their husbands, arrested by Huerta for treason.
Four United States battleships sail for Mexican waters under rush orders, making seven American vessels on the east coast, a fleet capable of maintaining a complete blockade of the coast.
Huerta will order another national election for February, according to report, and keep office until then.
Persistent rumors at Juarez said General Jose Y. Salazar, rebel leader, had been assassinated near there.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—President Wilson to-day began the preparation of a statement of his Mexican policy, which, it is believed, may lead to the final elimination of General Huerta from Mexican affairs, through the "moral suasion" of the governments interested in Mexico.
The President had an early conference with Secretary Bryan, and later John Bassett Moore, counselor of the State Department, sent to the White House documents believed to contain the statements of the English, German and French governments of their willingness to await the announcement of this country's attitude in Mexico before taking further action. Just when this note will be presented to the powers is not known.
The Felix Dias incident was partially ended to-day when Admiral Fletcher, at Vera Cruz, was instructed from Washington to transfer General Diaz and the other refugees on board the United States steamship Louisiana to the first convenient merchant steamer leaving the Mexican port for a neutral country.

U. S. Fighting Force Is To Be Mobilized.
NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Secret plans for the mobilization of the greatest fighting force that Uncle Sam ever has gathered are being completed in preparation for the invasion of Mexico if intervention is found necessary to restore peace in that country.

Mrs. Eaton Martyr To Love, Is Defense

PLYMOUTH, MASS., Oct. 29.—Attorney William A. Morse, making the final plea for Mrs. Jennie May Eaton in her murder trial here to-day, demanded that the jury free the accused widow.
Attorney Morse termed Mrs. Eaton a "martyr." He said her only fault was "that she loved too much."
He declared that Mrs. Eaton, who will probably learn her fate from the jury this afternoon, had arrived at her "courtroom filled with great experts," and that she had to fight as best she could.

Jessie Wilson's Gifts From Kings Mystify

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Return of foreign ambassadors and ministers to Washington from their various countries, has aroused an unexplained curiosity in Capital society as to the wedding gifts they bear from their sovereigns and rulers for Miss Jessie Wilson, daughter of the President.
They are very mysterious and refuse to give out the smallest hint as to the nature of the presents of royalty.
Meanwhile wives of the Cabinet members are collecting "useful" gifts for the White House bride-elect.

Will of St. Louis Millionaire Is Filed for Probate Late on Wednesday.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 29.—Adolphus Busch's will, filed late to-day for probate, gives the entire estate, with the exception of several minor bequests, to his widow and children. The estate has been variously estimated to be worth from $25,000,000 to $75,000,000.

August A. Busch, eldest son, is the principal beneficiary, it being stipulated that he shall receive two-sevenths of the entire estate.
Mrs. Lilly Busch, the widow, is the second largest beneficiary. The multi-millionaire having provided that she should have one-eighth of the estate, absolutely, together with the villa Lily in Germany, another German estate and the household property, horses, carriages, jewelry and paintings.

After Mrs. Busch's inheritance is set aside, the residue is to be divided into seven parts, one-seventh, $50,000, to go each to Mrs. Nellie Busch, of Chicago; Mrs. Edna Reisinger, of New York; Mrs. Anna Louise Faust, of St. Louis; Mrs. Clark von Garmard, of Germany, and Mrs. Wilhelm Busch Scherer, of Germany.

Mrs. Lilly Busch, August A. Busch's wife, Charles Naeff, former Secretary of Commerce and Labor and Mr. Busch's personal counsel, are named as trustees to carry out the wishes of Mr. Busch.

Care for Invalid Son.
August Busch is required, as an obligation incident to receiving the inheritance, to care for Carl Busch, invalid son of the brewer, and August Busch's share is not to be turned over to him until he signed an agreement to provide for his brother to an extent not exceeding $12,000 a year.

After giving $12,000 in charities in the will, the main part of the document directs that $10,000 each be given to two friends of the family named. The will, in "reading of Mrs. Busch's share, refers to her as "dear wife" and directs that the trustees provide for her to the extent of $20,000 a year.

GUARDED AS HE REACHES SHORE

Eighteen Sleuths Protect Noted Capturer of Criminals From Violence at Pier.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The hysteria pervading political circles since ex-Governor Sulzer and his chief investigator, John A. Hennessy, began their attack on Tammany and Charles F. Murphy was increased to-day by rumors that a plot had been discovered to assassinate Detective William J. Burns to prevent his revealing evidence that he has secured against a prominent politician.

When Burns landed at Hoboken from the liner operator on his arrival from Europe he was immediately surrounded by a bodyguard of eighteen detectives.

"The chief has received word that he is to be done away with," said one of the detectives. "The tip came from a reliable source. That's why we met him to-day."

"I do not fear assassination at the hands of dynamite when I have prosecuted. I am after the grafters. I am after the big fellows. They are the men who are making trouble, and they are my enemies."

He refused to comment on reports that he had been abroad to get evidence there relating to grafting in this city.

New Support of Sulzer in Fight.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—A new figure stepped into New York's turbulent political arena and lined up against Tammany Hall when Colonel William T. Amory came forward in support of William Sulzer and announced that it was not only he who had carried out the fight for Sulzer, but that he would later petition for clemency to Albany, but that he had seen Sullivan, who is in Sing Sing, write part of the letter and sign it.

Colonel Amory, who was former secretary of the Third Avenue Railway Company, gave the lie direct to those who claim that the Sullivan letter is not authentic.

In a statement Colonel Amory admitted that he was one of the principal agents through whom Mr. Sulzer, then Governor, dealt with Sullivan. That Sulzer refused to bargain with Sullivan for anti-Tammany information even to save himself while he was being impeached at Albany, was one of the striking statements made by Amory.

Six Girls Are Gone; Police Are Asked To Look for Them

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 29.—Six girls who were employed through an employment agency in this city to work in a factory for the manufacture of cloth, ribbon and cord, in a small town in Lee County, have disappeared and the police of various cities throughout the State have been petitioned to be on the lookout for them.

The girls were to be taken to Tampa for a week to await the arrival of the general manager of the factory and to be kept at the best and most expensive hotel there. They left Jacksonville last Monday, having their fares paid to a point they did not know by a man who met them at the depot and took charge of them.

From Tampa to-day came the story that girls from the "Working Girls' Home" in this city were there and seemingly without employment.
At the home on East Duval street, this city, the matron said that two of her girls had gone on such an offer, and that she had heard nothing from them since they left.

Investigations here revealed the fact that the man who was seen as "general manager of the factory" in the employment office was not the man who met them at the depot, bought their tickets and took them aboard the train.

Atlanta Muret Gets 'Dr.' Friend Of Hans Schmidt

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—"Dr." Ernest Muret, friend of "Father" Hans Schmidt, was to-day sentenced to seven and one-half years' imprisonment in the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta for counterfeiting.

Muret was sentenced to Judge Hunt to suspend sentence, saying that he wanted to go back to his home in Germany and spend the balance of his life with his mother. Judge Hunt could have imposed a sentence of 10 years, but as the prisoner is a victim of incipient tuberculosis he was lenient.

Popular Government Measures Approved

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 29.—At a special election here Chapter 4706 of the State Laws, providing for the initiative, referendum and recall, was approved by a vote of 460 to 235. By an almost similar vote the newer tax law, providing that property owners must pay two-thirds of the cost of sewers, was annulled. This means that suburban residents will have free sewers.

While less than 10 per cent of the registered vote was cast, the result of the election is regarded as a victory for popular government in Jacksonville.

Bowen Wins Fight To Retain Office

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 29.—County Commissioner F. S. Bowen has won his fight in the Circuit Court to retain his position as a county official. Judge Daniel A. Kimmons this afternoon sustained his demurrer to quo warranto proceedings brought by George W. Clark, who claimed that the commissioner had vacated his seat on the board by accepting a deputyship under Sheriff W. H. Downing.

The point was made that the law required the filing of a bond by the deputy and that Mr. Bowen had never filed such bond, and had therefore not qualified as a deputy sheriff.

ASHVILLE, N. C., Oct. 29.—John H. Carter, Asheville banker, has returned from Tulsa, Okla., following his acquittal on charges of the embezzlement of two $2,500 notes of North Georgia Trust Company. He was formerly president of the banking company.

FRANK ALIBI UPHELD BY ROSSER IN CLOSING

Declares Negro's Testimony Impatched by State's Own Witness.

Leo M. Frank's alibi on the day Mary Phagan was murdered was reserved as the crowning point of his argument for a new trial by Luther Z. Rosser Wednesday afternoon. The Frank attorney contended that the alibi, which he represented as ironclad, was an added and clinching reason for another trial for the convicted man.

Rosser closed his argument shortly before 5 o'clock and the case went over to Judge Roan for his decision.
The alibi, Mr. Rosser asserted, was given its final touch of stability by one of the State's own witnesses. He recalled to the court that Conley had testified that he and Frank had begun the disposal of the little girl's body at 12:55 o'clock and had finished at 1:30. If this statement was found false, and it was established that Frank was not there during that time, the lawyer said, Conley's whole story fell to the ground.

The first step knocked under Rosser's testimony, according to Bowen, was by Miss Helen Kern, who declared that she saw Frank at Whitehall and Alabama streets at 1:10 o'clock the afternoon of the murder, he said, by Mrs. Jacob Levy and by Frank's own relatives who declared that the superintendent arrived home at 1:20.

"As if this were not sufficient," said Rosser, "Albert McKnight, the State's witness, swore that he saw Frank home at 1:30, exactly at the moment Conley swore he departed from the factory leaving Frank inside."

Rosser declared the allegations of perversion against Frank, and they alone, had tried and convicted the man.
"You might as well have put the brand of Cain upon his forehead as to have introduced that revolting and maliciously false testimony," he shouted at Solicitor Dorsey. "You destroyed his life the instant you believed that in. There is no doubt about that."

"Degeneracy is the matrix of all crimes. Once established that and there comes out in the minds of a jury the belief that a person is a degenerate and they will be willing to believe that he is guilty of murder or any other crime in the calendar, even though they had not introduced a scintilla of evidence against him."

"No stranger phenomenon ever oc-

Brunette Affinities Outnumber Blondes By 7 to 1 Margin

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29.—That brunettes are almost invariably to blame for married men "going wrong" in Los Angeles County is the declaration of Thomas K. Hughes, clerk of a district police court.
He made the statement on the strength of having seen tried more than 4,000 divorce actions.
"Just to show you where the 'other woman' comes in I want to make a note of the fact that decrees were granted to 72 women and to 23 men," said Hughes.
"In all the cases where co-respondents were mentioned only five or six alleged affinities were blonde and the remainder brunettes."

ADVISOR NOT POISONED, SAVS JURY

Verdict Freeing Accused Widow
Greeted in Early Morning by
Cheering in Courtroom.

PLYMOUTH, MASS., Oct. 29.—Mrs. Jennie May Eaton today was acquitted of the murder of her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph Giles Eaton, formerly of Alabama, after the jury had deliberated her case eleven hours.
The verdict of not guilty was returned at 9:30 a. m. after a crowd of lawyers, relatives, friends and curious persons had kept an all-night vigil in the courtroom.
A remarkable scene took place when the foreman announced the verdict that cleared Mrs. Eaton of the charge of having poisoned her husband with arsenic at their home in Annapolis, Md.
The acquitted woman rose to her feet and, gripping the hands of her lawyers, exclaimed in a shaken voice: "Thank God! I have the best lawyers in Massachusetts."
About 200 persons were in the courtroom when the verdict was announced. In spite of a previous warning from the bench, the spectators in the rear of the room rose in their seats and started to cheer when the defendant was acquitted.

Delay Worried Watchers.

It had been expected by friends of the accused woman that very few ballots of the jury would be necessary to acquit Mrs. Eaton, but when the hours began to drag on the less sanguine began to predict a disagreement. Very few who followed the trial closely believed that Mrs. Eaton would be found guilty. One of the most optimistic of the group that rallied the verdict was Mrs. Eaton's attorney, William A. Morse, who kept saying that he felt morally certain that his client could not be convicted on the evidence.
About 5 o'clock unwonted activity in the jury room indicated that a decision had been reached. This shook the sleep from the eyes of the patient watchers, and the action in the courtroom was soon filled. A message was dispatched to Judge Allen at his home, and within a short time the jurist had taken his place upon the bench.

Mrs. Eaton, who had spent the night tossing upon a pallet in the executive chamber of the judge, was aroused and led into the courtroom. Although pale, she showed great composure, being buoyed up by the constantly reiterated declarations by her lawyers that she would be acquitted. Her pale face was accentuated by her black dress but she showed no outward agitation.

Stilwell Greets Verdict.
Absolute quiet prevailed while the court put the question as to whether or not the jurors had agreed upon a verdict and as to its nature.
The foreman of the jury replied: "Not guilty," and then sat down.
The stillness for a few moments remained unbroken. In the dim light of the lamps, for dawn had not yet broken, the figures in the room sat motionless. Then the overstrained feelings gave way.

ATLANTANS GET CONTRACT.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 29.—The Mayor and Council of Hartsboro, Russell County, Alabama, have awarded the contract for the construction of its waterworks and electric light plant to the J. B. McCarty Company, of Atlanta.

DISCHARGED GUARDS TO TESTIFY

Despite Efforts of Warden Moyer
to Block Penitentiary Inquiry,
Probe Is Ordered.

With an investigation of the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary ordered by Attorney General McInnes, despite the efforts of friends of Warden William H. Moyer to sidetrack a probe and minimize the importance of the charges made by Julian Hawthorne, Dr. W. J. Morton and a number of former employees of the institution, interest has centered in the testimony seven discharged guards of the institution are expected to give when the investigation is under way.
These men lost their jobs because, Warden Moyer claims, they were responsible for the charges made by Hawthorne and Dr. Morton, who, he says, assailed his administration of the prison at the instance and request of the disgraced guards. The discharged guards, since they left the prison, have intimated that they have a complete knowledge of the hard ships of the institution, and that they are ready to talk when the proper time comes, and to the proper people.

Date of Probe Secret.

It is regarded as virtually certain that when Attorney General McInnes' investigation starts, these men will be called before the investigator and that their testimony will play a large part in the inquiry.
Dispatches from Washington Thursday state that the general refusal to make public the date the investigation will start, nor will he give out any of the details of the probe. It is understood, however, that it will be conducted by a civilian. Mr. McInnes has stated that the investigation will be thorough, and that no stone will be left unturned to determine the truth of Hawthorne's and Morton's charges against Warden Moyer.

The latter has consistently demanded an investigation of the prison, though his friends have endeavored to prevent one being made. When Mr. Moyer was in Washington, recently the Attorney General told him he would be held to a strict personal accounting for conditions at the prison, and it is probable that the Warden will lose his official head if the charges are sustained.

Hawthorne Promises Clean-up.
Julian Hawthorne, the novelist whose release from the prison precipitated the scandal, has written to friends in Atlanta within the last few days, declaring that the probe into conditions at the institution will be thorough, and that it undoubtedly will result in the prisoners being given better care. Hawthorne writes also that he intends to make the cleaning up of the Atlanta prison his sole purpose in life, and that he will continue the agitation until an investigation has been made and his charges sustained.

She says he will not have one penny and since he is fourteen years her junior and she is 32, the court may so decree.

Detectives Dig for $300 Young Robber Declares He Buried

Detectives Thursday are endeavoring to recover part of the $700 they declare Alonzo Fields, Jr., confessed to have taken from Hankin Bros. store at Stone Mountain. When Fields was arrested Wednesday night in an Atlanta hotel he had $90. He told the detectives $200 of the money was buried at Stone Mountain. City Detective Garner and Charles Rankin took him to Stone Mountain to look for it.
The robbery of the store about noon Tuesday was a mystery until the arrest of young Fields. He is the son of Alonzo Fields, legislator and leading citizen of Stone Mountain. According to the detectives, he confessed taking the money that he might lead a gay life in Atlanta. He had brought a companion to help enjoy the sport, but the police do not think the companion is an accomplice.

Fight to Last Ditch.

An immediate appeal to the Supreme Court of the State will be made by Frank's attorneys in the event the motion for a new trial is denied. Attorney Rosser asserted, by his closing argument Wednesday afternoon that he was in the case until he drew his last breath or so long as his positive conviction in Frank's innocence remained. The lawyer intimated that the fight in the courts would be prolonged until every legal resource had been tried. No advantage will be overlooked in the determined battle to save the factory as persistent from the gallows.
His lawyers and his friends maintain their assertions of belief in his innocence and in his absolute unbrokenness of the charges of immorality made against him, accusations which are regarded as having had a large part in obtaining his conviction on the murder charge.
"While I believe in his innocence," said Attorney Rosser, "I shall stand in his defense as long as I live and as long as I have a breath of life."
"There will come a time when the people will wonder how such things could have taken place as have occurred during the trial of this man. Dismiss from your mind, your honor."

The lawyer intimated that the fight in the courts would be prolonged until every legal recourse had been tried. No advantage would be overlooked in the determined battle to save the factory superintendent from the gallows.

His lawyers and his friends maintain their assertions of belief in his innocence and in his absolute guiltlessness of the charges of immoral conduct made against him, accusations which are regarded as having been a large part in obtaining his conviction on the murder charge.

While I believe in his innocence, said Attorney Rooser, I shall stand in his defense as long as I live and as long as I have a breath of life. There will come a time when the people will wonder how such things

Detectives Dig for $300 Young Robber Declares He Buried

Detectives Thursday are endeavoring to recover part of the $200 they declare Alonzo Fields, Jr., confessed to have taken from Hankin Bros. store at Stone Mountain. When Fields was arrested Wednesday night in an Atlanta hotel he had $20. He told the detectives $200 of the money was buried at Stone Mountain. City Detective Garner and Charles Hankin took him to Stone Mountain to look for it.

The robbery of the store about noon Tuesday was a mystery until the arrest of young Fields. He is the son of Alonzo Fields, legislator and leading citizen of Stone Mountain. According to the detectives, he confessed taking the money that he might lead a gay life in Atlanta. He had brought a companion to help enjoy the sport, but the police do not think the companion is an accomplice.

Lawyer Not Imprisoned, Says Jury

Verdict Freeing Accused Widow
Greeted in Early Morning by Cheering in Courtroom.

PLYMOUTH, MASS., Oct. 29.—Mrs. Jennie May Eaton today was acquitted of the murder of her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph Giles Eaton, formerly of Alabama, after the jury had deliberated her case eleven hours.

The verdict of not guilty was returned at 5:08 a. m. After a crowd of lawyers, relatives, friends and curious persons had kept an all-night vigil in the courtroom.

A remarkable scene took place when the foreman announced the verdict that cleared Mrs. Eaton of the charge of having poisoned her husband with arsenic at their home in Astoria, Mass.

The acquitted woman rose to her feet and, gripping the hands of her lawyers, exclaimed in a choked voice: "Thank God! I have the best lawyers in Massachusetts."

About 200 persons were in the courtroom when the verdict was announced. In spite of a previous warning from the bench, the spectators in the rear of the room rose in their seats and started to cheer when the verdict was announced.

Delay Worried Watchers.
It had been expected by friends of the accused woman that very few ballots of the jury would be necessary to acquit Mrs. Eaton, but when the judge began to drag on the less than eight hours of deliberation, the watchers began to fret at a disagreeable delay.

Very few who followed the trial closely believed that Mrs. Eaton would be found guilty. One of the most optimistic of the group that awaited the verdict was Mrs. Eaton's attorney, William A. Morse, who kept saying that he felt morally certain that his client could not be convicted on the evidence.

About 5 o'clock unwonted activity in the jury room indicated that a decision had been reached. This shook the sleep from the eyes of the patient watchers, and the wait in the courtroom was soon over. A message was dispatched to Judge Allen at his home, and within a short time the jurist had taken his place upon the bench.

Brunette Affinities Outnumber Blondes By 7 to 1 Margin

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29.—That brunettes are almost invariably to blame for married men "going wrong" in Los Angeles County is the declaration of Thomas K. Hughes, clerk of a district police court.

"Just to show you where the 'other woman' comes in I want to make a note of the fact that decrees were granted to 72 women and to 23 men," said Hughes.

"In all the cases where co-respondents were mentioned only five of so-called affinites were blondes and the remainder brunettes."

DISCHARGED GUARDS TO TESTIFY

Despite Efforts of Warden Moyer
to Block Penitentiary Inquiry, Probe Is Ordered.

With an investigation of the Atlanta Penitentiary ordered by Attorney General McReynolds, despite the efforts of friends of Warden William H. Moyer to sidetrack a probe and minimize the importance of the charges made by Julian Hawthorne, Dr. W. J. Morton and a number of former employees of the institution, interest has centered in the testimony seven discharged guards of the institution are expected to give when the investigation is under way.

These men took their jobs because, Warden Moyer claims, they were responsible for the charges made by Hawthorne and Dr. Morton, who, he says, assailed his administration of the prison at the instance and request of the disaffected guards. The discharged guards, since they left the prison, have intimated that they have a complete knowledge of the hardships of the institution and that they are ready to take when the proper time comes, and to the proper people.

ARMY GETS READY FOR ORDER TO INVADE

Mexican Prisons Filled by Huerta
With Diaz's Friends, Whose Plot He Discovered.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The Mexican situation assumed a more ominous aspect today when it was officially admitted for the first time that a heavy movement of troops toward the border is now in progress. It is a significant fact that the troops being sent southward are all cavalry. This force can move more rapidly than infantry if any invasion is ordered.

In the official announcement made by General Leonard Wood, chief of the United States army staff, it is stated that the troops sent to the border will "relieve" those now there. There is no doubt, however, that, if conditions warrant, all available forces will be held for immediate action.

A shift of troops at this time is regarded as ominous. The situation leads to the belief that the troops to be replaced really will not be recalled, but will be left at the border, augmenting the fighting force ordered southward.

Order Confirmed by General Wood.
General Wood said: "Orders already have been given for the removal of the Second and Fifth Regiments of cavalry from Fort Bliss, Texas, and Fort Huachuca, Arizona, and their replacement by the Tenth and Fifteenth Cavalry."

The Tenth Cavalry now is at Fort Ethan Allen, Vt. It will be moved by rail to New York, and there will embark on army transport for Galveston, Texas, whence it will proceed overland to Arizona.

In the meantime the three squadrons of the Fifteenth Cavalry which now are located at Fort Myer, Va., Chicago and Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, will assemble at Fort Leavenworth and proceed southward to Fort Bliss, relieving the Second Regiment.

Both the Second and Fifth Regiments will be relieved of border duty and moved to posts in the North, the Fifth going to Fort Ethan Allen and the Second being divided between Fort Myers and Leavenworth.

Ample Force to Intervene.
With the large force already at Texas City, Texas, this would give the United States a force ample to intervene in Northern Mexico and to carry on a campaign until reinforcements could be rushed from the North.

According to plans already mapped out by members of the army staff, a portion of the troops now en route to Galveston and proceed immediately to Vera Cruz, under command of a portion of the Atlantic Fleet already in the Gulf of Mexico.

The landing of these troops at Vera Cruz, coincident with the crossing of the border by the regiments at Fort Bliss and Huachuca, would give the United States the advantage of having two distinct forces converging on Mexico City, one from the north, the other

FRANK COUNSEL PREPARED TO APPEAL

Lawyers Announce They Will Carry His Fight to the Last Ditch.

The anxiety which the Solicitor General has expressed if another trial is granted. I dispute, your honor, that a new trial would be such a loss to the judiciary that future trials would have to be under the guard of the militia, with bayonets and rifles standing for the preservation of the courts of justice.

Convicted on Perjury Charge.
Attorney Rosser made the startling statement to Judge Ross that Frank was not convicted on the evidence that he was the murderer of Mary Phagan, but that he was tried and convicted solely on the "unsubstantiated and utterly false" tale of perjury that was told by the negro, Jim Conley, on the stand.

"You damned him the instant you brought in that false and filthy testimony," Rosser shouted at Solicitor Doney. "Deceit is the spirit of all crimes. Once instilled in the minds of the jurors the idea that a prisoner is a degenerate and they will tumble over themselves in their eagerness to believe him guilty of murder or any other crime in the whole calendar."

"The law guarantees to a man the privilege of being tried only for the crime with which he formally is charged and on the charge which he is brought into court to answer. The law specifically declares that no evidence may be brought in of an independent, distinct and wholly disconnected crime."

"Yet this was done in Frank's case by his extreme injustice and irreparable harm. Crimes were charged against him for which there was no warrant in fact and of which there was no evidence except that of the miserable lying negro."

"The testimony was inadmissible. There is no question about that. We believe your honor erred in not ruling it out when the defense made its most emphatic objection. That this motion was not made upon examination a day and a half did not diminish the force of the motion in the least. We did it to relieve the court from its duty to have stricken from the record all the testimony of that nature. Your honor, we contend, was led into error, and this furnished more than sufficient grounds in itself for a new trial."

Defends Affidavits.

Attorney Rosser devoted much of his attention to the manner in which Solicitor Doney and the detectives had conducted the investigation into the murder mystery and the prosecution of Frank.

He then shifted to the charges of prejudice and bias which the defense had lodged against the jurors. A. H. Hendrix and Marceline Johnson. He spread out the affidavits against these men and declared that in view of the prominence, reputation and character of the affiants there could be no doubt of the truth of the charges.

The lawyer began his address when the hearing opened at 9 o'clock and continued about 4:45 in the afternoon.

Ex-Slave, Habitual Offender, 'In Again'

Special Cable to the Atlanta Georgian, TAMPA, FLORIDA, Oct. 20.—Four vessels in the harbor of Tampa were wrecked today by a tidal wave, and it is feared many lives were lost.

Mr. Carmichael said one of the negroes held a razor to his throat while the other lifted his offense. Then they told him to run, which he did—to the nearest telephone to notify the police.

Every member of the train crew was a shiner, while other shiners acted as news-buffers, porter, chef, and barber. The local delegation was led by illustrious Forester Glen Toole. The Macon Band and Bugle Corps, 50 strong, accompanied the shiners.

Miss Lucy Hinman, an exceptionally attractive girl and captain of the Woodbury School basketball five, does not believe in the advice of the beauty experts and has to fall in the doctrine of the experts in keeping vigorous and healthy-looking.

"Basketball, good old rough-and-tumble basketball, in which one gets their knees and elbows abraded almost as regularly as they comb their hair, is the best exercise on earth," declared Miss Hinman. "Pleats of fresh air and outdoor exercise make for health, vigor and grace."

"The basketball girl can outstride the maid who doesn't exercise in the open any night in the year," said another member of the team.

Miss Hinman believes her basketball team is one of the best in the South. Her Captain is scheduled to Cox Washington Seminary, Agnes Scott, as strong, accompanied the shiners.

FORMER PRISON EMPLOYEES TO TESTIFY

Despite Efforts of Warden Moyer to Block Penitentiary Inquiry, Probe Is Ordered.

With an investigation of the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary ordered by Attorney General McReynolds, despite the efforts of friends of Warden William H. Moyer to sidetrack a probe and minimize the importance of the charges made by Julian Hawthorne, Dr. W. J. Morton and a number of former employees of the institution, a probe is expected to get under way when the investigation is under way.

These men lost their jobs because, Warden Moyer claims, they were responsible for the charges made by Hawthorne and Dr. Morton, who, he says, assailed his administration of the prison at the instance and request of the disgruntled guards. The discharged guards, since they left the prison, have indicated that they have a complete knowledge of the hardships of the institution, and that they are ready to talk when the proper time comes, and to the proper people.

Date of Probe Secret.
It is regarded as virtually certain that when Attorney General McReynolds' investigation starts, these men will be called before the investigator and that their testimony will play a large part in the inquiry.
Disparages From Washington Thursday state that the Attorney General refuses to make public the date the investigation will start, nor will he give out any of the details of the probe. It is understood, however, that it will be conducted by a civilian, along the lines of the probe recently made into conditions at the Leavenworth, Kans., penitentiary. Mr. McReynolds has stated that the investigation will be thorough, and that the truth of Hawthorne's and Morton's charges against Warden Moyer.

The latter has consistently demanded an investigation of the prison, though his friends have endeavored to prevent one being made. When Mr. Moyer was in Washington, he said the Attorney General told him he would be held to a strict personal accounting for conditions at the prison, and it is probable that the Warden will lose his official head if the charges are sustained.

Julian Hawthorne, the novelist whose release from the prison precipitated the scandal, has written to friends in Atlanta within the last few days, stating that the probe into conditions at the institution will be thorough, and that it undoubtedly will result in the prisoners being given better care. Hawthorne writes also that he intends to make the cleaning up of the Atlanta prison his life purpose in life, and that he will continue the agitation until an investigation has been made and his charge sustained.

Women's Civic Club to Make Halloween Masque Real Old-Fashioned Affair.

Witches and spells will patrol beneath mellow lights and autumn leaves Friday night to chase away the bugs and turkey trot when the Women's Civic Club of Center Hill gives an old-fashioned Halloween masquerade party in the schoolhouse of the village.

Only old-fashioned dances will be indulged in. Couples with a penchant for the modern, hops and dips and glides will be visited by the "spirits" immediately they start to execute the new steps at this party. Nearly a hundred young people will participate in the entertainment.

Officials of the club declare their action in forbidding the modern dances was not the beginning of a crusade against such steps, but merely to substantiation of their belief that old-fashioned celebrations should be enacted in the good old-fashioned form.

Besides the Virginia Reel and square dances, which the merry-makers will whirl through on maxixe, there will be a levy of Greek maidens in a special drill. But the modern dances will be conspicuous by their absence.

The Women's Civic Club, of Center Hill, is one of the active and rapidly growing organizations in the city and has a large and enthusiastic membership of married women and young girls.

A hundred delegates to the Georgia Fruit Exchange will gather at the "Piedmont Hotel" November 12 for a day's session. Topics of importance to Georgia fruit growers will be discussed.

The annual election of officers will take place.

PYTHIANS START $50,000 FUND FOR HOME

Great Enthusiasm Is Displayed for Project at Rally of Fifth District Knights.

The Knights of Pythias are going to build a home in Atlanta. The building is to cost $50,000, and of this amount $5,000 of stock has already been subscribed. The plans were formulated at the semi-annual meeting of the various lodges of the Pythian Knights embracing the Fifth Congressional District, Wednesday.

Two sessions were held in the lodgerooms in the Klier Building. Officers elected for the coming year are: Russell K. Smith, president; Newman Lasser, first vice president; W. G. Moore, second vice president; Young H. Fraser, secretary; Leon G. Greer, sergeant-at-arms; Ray Frank, inner warden, and Wallace Rooden, chaplain. These officers were elected for one year each.

A charter has already been obtained for a $100 company for the purchase of a suitable lot and for the building of the new Pythian home. Just as soon as the necessary amount is subscribed work will start on the new building. The $5,000 subscribed was cut up in shares of $100 each. It is believed the entire amount will be raised in the next few weeks.

The Wednesday evening meeting brought out a good, red-hot and straight-from-the-shoulder speaking, and the enthusiasm of the Knights grew until the building rang with cheers. Mayor Woodworth, who delivered the address of welcome, J. W. Austin, Shepard Bryan, Hamilton Douglas, Frank Houston and Russell Smith were the principal speakers.

Each speaker announcing that he was in favor of the plans for the new Pythian home, was loudly applauded.

"Our order stands for everything that is good and righteous and every true Pythian endeavors to live up to his motto and teachings," spoke Austin. "The time has come when we have reached the stage of development where a commodious home, worthy of the noble order in which we all are brothers, is needed."

RECORDER BROYLES SEES ABOLITION OF THE ROD IN HOMES AND SCHOOLS

I am in favor of the rod only in cases of absolute necessity in the home.

I do not believe the rod should be tolerated at all in our schools.

If an offending child can be corrected without being whipped it is much better for both child and parent.

The rod is a relic of barbarism and is destined to be banished from our modern life.

I must admit, however, that the time for its abolition has not arrived.—From Recorder Broyles' Interview.

Recorder Nath Broyles is strongly of the opinion that the day is not far distant when corporal punishment for children, both in the home and in school, will be regarded as barbarous and when the training and correction of youngsters will be accomplished by precept and kind words.

The Recorder has closely studied the question of punishment for children for their varied petty offenses against the discipline of home, and has well defined views on this subject. He expressed these views Wednesday morning in an interview with the Georgian, advancing opposition to the flogging of children as a general proposition.

He referred to the rod as a relic of barbarism, and said he hoped to see the time come in his own day when in reality it would be a relic in every sense of the word. He added significantly, however, that this time has not arrived, and that the rod still has a place in modern, everyday life for this little institution, regarded by the offending juvenile as a terrific weapon of oppression.

Red Sometimes Necessary, said Judge Broyles. "This applies to use of the rod in the home, I do not believe it should be tolerated at all in our schools."

"There are some instances of infraction of home rules that demand the rod. In such cases, it is not cruel, and, I believe, tends to a betterment of home government. But in my opinion, a child should not be thrashed until kinder and more humane methods have been thoroughly tried and have proved a failure. "If an offending child can be corrected and shown the error of his way without being whipped, it is much better for both the child and the parents. In many instances, the rod is a relic of barbarism and is destined to be banished from our modern life."

REGIONAL BANKS PLANT TO WIN IN COMMITTEE MRS. KING GOING FAR FROM HER OLD HOME

Central Idea Dies Under Opposition of Administration, as Reflected in House.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—A system of five or six regional banks, the capital to be contributed by the public, either directly or through the Government, and the control to be almost entirely in the hands of the Government, was indicated today as the conclusion that will be reached by the Senate Banking and Currency Committee.

The central bank with branches plan is dead. Its death is due to a realization by members of the committee that such a plan would not go through the House because of the opposition of the Administration.

House members have shown a willingness to support an amendment providing for public ownership of the banks.

Brother Thanks God
As Jury Frees Woman.
GRAYS, Oct. 25.—Mrs. Katherine King is today a free woman, after spending ten months in the Jones County jail at this place, charged with complicity in the murder of her husband, James King, a wealthy Jones County farmer, last December. She was acquitted, after a two days' trial in Jones Superior Court, following the conviction and passing of the death sentence on Nick Wilburn, a young farm hand, who confessed to slaying his employer and who accused Mrs. King of plotting the murder because of the infatuation between her and Wilburn.

It was a dramatic moment when Foreman W. W. Barron read the jury's verdict, giving the woman her liberty. She did not speak. Her only emotion was expressed in a heavy sigh. There were no tears. A tense silence was broken by the spell of silence was Mrs. King's brother, who alone of her relatives had stood by her and fought for her acquittal. "Oh, God, I haven't lived in vain," he said as he began sobbing. Mrs. King placed her arms about his neck and while perched, "My darling brother." Two minutes later they left the courtroom together, going across the courtyard to the little jail that had so long been her prison, where she packed her belongings. They went direct to the brother's home in Macon, where she is staying, away from her children and other relatives. Three of the children are with Jones County relatives near Rome, Ga. The other three are in the Hephzibah Orphanage in Macon.

MACON, Oct. 25.—"I never want to see my name in print again, nor my picture either, for that matter. I am going far away from this part of the country just as soon as I regain my strength to start life anew and put the whole horrible past behind me," declared Mrs. Katherine King today at the home of a friend in Macon.

She came here last night in company with her brother, W. S. Simmons, Macon shoe store proprietor, who was the only one of her relatives who gave her aid or had anything to do with her after the killing of her husband.

Mrs. King declares that she never expects to see any of her six children again, and that is the feature that is causing her great grief.

It is for the best," she says, "that they forget their mother. I can never forget them, but I know I should keep out of their lives henceforth."

All Clogged Up? Here's Quick Relief

A Simple Remedy to Correct
Constipation Before It Becomes Chronic.

Very few people go through life without some time or other being troubled with constipation. These ailments insure themselves by the use of strong cathartics, salts, mineral waters, pills and similar things. They have temporary value in some cases, it is true, but the good effect is soon lost, and the more one takes of them the less effective they become.

A physic or purgative is seldom necessary, and much better and more permanent results can be obtained by using a scientific remedy like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

It does not hide behind a high-sounding name, but is what it is represented to be, a mild laxative medicine. It is so compounded, and contains such definite ingredients that it will have equally good effect when used by a person suffering from the worst chronic constipation. In fact, among the greatest of disorders of Syrup Pepsin are elderly people who have suffered for years and found nothing to benefit them until they took Syrup Pepsin.

It is a fact that millions of families have Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin constantly in the house. Some have been cured of their ailments by its use. It is a fact that millions of families have Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin constantly in the house. Some have been cured of their ailments by its use.

CLUBBING PROPOSED CARFON TELEPHONES TO PROMOTE HOME LIFE

Atlanta's long-neglected husband-and-wife club circles, it became known Thursday, as the result of a motion picture before a gathering of women by Mrs. W. R. Price-Smith, which provides for a crusade against the use of the telephone by women after 6 p. m.

Atlanta women, it was asserted in the motion picture, spend so much time talking over the telephone at night that they are forced to neglect their husbands. Necessary, therefore, the motion picture was aimed at unmarried as well as married women, because the former, it was claimed, while they have no husbands to neglect, can keep the wives on the telephone while their husbands are sleeping.

The motion of Mrs. Price-Smith provides that all women shall do their telephone talking during the daytime while the men are downtown making the overhead with which to meet the telephone bills, etc. While no other action has as yet been taken on the motion, it has aroused a tumult of discussion among Atlanta women and threatens to precipitate a breach in several organizations which in itself will eliminate some part of the avowed evil.

Relief to Operators.
So comprehensive idea of what the clubbing husbands have to say about the motion was heard Thursday. Officials of the telephone company declared, however, that they thought such action would be a great relief to their switchboard operators. Women interviewed declared that they thought the move a good one, except for its impracticability.

"It seems to me," said Mrs. Price-Smith, "that all necessary calling over the phone should be done by 6 o'clock in the evening. In that way leaving the women a chance to have a quiet evening at home, and then on evening with her husband or family. With considerable calls to the phone, but little hope for opportunities of rest."

Mrs. Price-Smith believes that if every clubwoman would agree to do nothing of vital importance during the day and up to 6 o'clock, it would result in great benefit to all concerned.

Mrs. Price-Smith is one of the most influential and progressive clubwomen in the State, and holds office in nearly every club of importance in the city, besides being on several State boards supported by a number of well-known clubwomen.

Mrs. Wilson Agrees.
Mrs. A. M. Wilson, president of the United Women's Memorial Association, director of the national board of the Young Women's Christian Association for several years, said, in support of the idea projected by Mrs. Price-Smith:

"I heartily concur with the plan and believe it could be made practical and beneficial to every woman in the city. I would give up more time to talk with our friends on any subject, but I would give up more time with our families and more quiet and security of thought."

Many women complain that just as they are about to rest themselves at dinner, or have just opened a book, or begun a serious conversation, the bell rings and a half hour is often lost by a conversation that could have waited until morning.

"Why," said one clubwoman, "I often return from the phone to find my husband in a rage because his train of thought has been interrupted when he was telling me something of importance about his business or the children or the home life. And I—well, my mind is all in a whirl over something so trivial, and not only my evening is spoiled, but my rest for the night. I hope the clubwomen will agree to practice 'no after 6 o'clock' telephone calls."

Another clubwoman complains that women as a rule have not learned the art of conversation, and that they lose many precious minutes by prolonged conversation, when they could tell in five minutes what it takes them to tell in thirty.

There seems to be general interest in the proposition of Mrs. Price-Smith, and the clubwomen almost to a unit agree that it can and should be carried out.

Bad Coin Passed on Counterfeit Expert

The job of it is that Mr. Bailey, as head of the Department of Justice here, is the counterfeiters' worst enemy.

Wilson to Demand Huerta's Resignation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—That President Wilson is preparing a demand upon General Huerta calling upon the Provisional President of Mexico to resign his office immediately is a report that is current in official circles today. It is circulated even at the White House without denial.

President Wilson is expected to place before Huerta the alternative of putting the interests of Mexico before his organization, or of withdrawing himself from power notwithstanding that he is now considered a detriment to Mexico's interest.

President Wilson now is believed to be withholding the issuance of his own ultimatum to the support of the chief European powers in the stand he has taken. Even if this support can not be obtained, however, it is expected that he will issue a statement, and trust to the moral influence of the United States to effect the elimination of Huerta.

Prisons Filled With Plotters for Diaz.
Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian. MEXICO CITY, Oct. 30.—Every prominent supporter of Felix Diaz is being secretly arrested on orders issued by General Huerta. Many have been taken to the Federal prison at Vera Cruz. Among the prisoners the wealthy men who furnished the funds for the Diaz presidential campaign.

It became known today for the first time that the conspiracy against Diaz in power in Huerta's stead was widespread. The plot was carefully worked out so that it was necessary only to wait for the right moment to lead his supporters to make a formidable revolt. Diaz weakened, however, some of his supporters have criticized him in public and this gave the clue that resulted in the complete exposure of the plot.

"The troops at all the Southern army forts are in good condition and ready for any emergency," Lieutenant Tucker, aide to General Robert K. Evans, commander of the Department of the Gulf, United States Army, declared when he returned to Atlanta Thursday, after accompanying General Evans on a month's inspection tour of the posts in the Southern territory.

General Evans will not return to Atlanta until about November 10, having accepted invitations to deliver several addresses in Mississippi on behalf of the people of the United States in the army.

Lieutenant Tucker declared that the equipment at all the forts was found to be in excellent shape, and that the entire Southern division is prepared for instant movement.

The posts at Little Rock and at Fort Sill, Okla., were among those inspected by General Evans, and the troops at both places were active and fully equipped. General Evans also spent several days at the "fire school" at Fort Sill, where tests are made of field guns.

McPherson Expects Order.
While the officers at Fort McPherson are relieved concerning the prospect of an invasion of Mexico, it is known that they are anxiously awaiting orders from the War Department in Washington to entrain the Seventeenth Infantry for the border, and everything is in readiness for the instant movement of the regiment.

The troops at the fort have been active for some time, and have just returned from a week's maneuver. Within the past few weeks the equipment has been put on a war basis, and everything made ready for field service.

The plan of reorganization of the United States Army provided by the general staff, which will be brought to the attention of Congress and strenuous efforts made to obtain its enactment later, now has been received at the local army headquarters in the Cavalry Building.

"ALLEN'S-SPECIAL" BOOTS and EVENING SLIPPERS $4 A PAIR

A result of specializing on women's footwear at $4.00, $5.00, $6.00, $7.00 and $8.00, as we do, is that you can have a greater variety of styles to choose from, and better styles, we think, than most stores carry, at any one price.

For instance, we have thirty-three separate and distinct styles of women's boots at $4.00 a pair. 25 Evening Slippers at $4.00.

Some of them we can truthfully claim are $4.50 grades; they were really bought to sell for that ninety days ago. Two styles are special purchases and are regular $5 values.

When we say $4.50 and $5.00 values for $4.00, we mean it.

You can come here expecting to find shoes and slippers that by every standard of value are worth fifty cents to a dollar a pair more. The leathers are patent, gun metal, Russia calf, vici kid, and dull mat kid in boots. Satin, kid and suede in slippers.

A few thoughtless people have seen some $6.00, $7.00 and $8.00 shoes in our window, a little more prominently displayed than the $4.00 and $5.00 ones, and have circulated the report that we have nothing but high price shoes.

For this reason we have arranged a display of $4.00 footwear in our South window that you should see.

We can not devote so much space to one price shoe permanently and this will give you an opportunity to see what Allen can furnish at $4.00.

A new shipment of satin, cloth of gold and silver, bronze and dull kid evening slippers has just been received by express.

This will be welcome news to brides-to-be and their attendants who are right now looking for new footwear. Our stock of Cuban French heel and Louis XV heel footwear is unexcelled in the South.

We saw the tendency in time and can show you right now, over fifty different styles of Cuban French heel and Louis XV heel pumps and slippers, ranging in price from $3.00 to $8.00 a pair, and boots and Coloniads from $5.00 up.

Beatrice Fairfax Talks to

The Defiant Girl

A Teacher Whose Slit Skirts and Low Cut Blouses Cost Her Her Job.

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

NOW, girls, what do you think of the young lady who lost a perfectly good position rather than give up wearing a slit skirt?

She was a school teacher—as pretty, they say, as a peach—clever, competent and in every way one of the best little school teachers the little class in the country school had ever had.

But the more clothes that did not please the mothers of the children who went to her school. Low cut blouses, and the women said, and slit skirts and shadow dresses, and the mothers complained.

They whispered and gossiped and talked—and, finally, little Miss Headstrong had to go.

What do you think of her and her common sense?

I'll tell you what I think—she may have been probably the sweetest, clearest, dearest little girl in the world—but she is no girl for a school teacher, and I think it is a good thing she found it out and has gone to look for another kind of position in another kind of place.

Haven't a girl a right to wear what she wants to—when she wants to—as long as the clothes are paid for honestly—and she likes them herself?

BOTH HAVE RIGHTS.

Why, yes, of course she has, and haven't other people the right to laugh at her for doing it, too, and to make fun of her, and to make it just as hard for her as they can—long as they don't wear her anything?

This is a world of give and take, girls—you can't do all the taking and let somebody else do all the giving—and expect to be either successful or popular.

That girl went to the wrong place, and she wasn't clever enough to make herself over into the right kind of girl for it—that's all.

What makes everybody turn around and stare when she of little Miss Headstrong puts on her full regalia and takes a stroll down Peachtree?

Because her an Indian—not at all.

Because he dresses like an Indian, and all the rest of the people on the street are dressed like white folk.

Wouldn't you smile if that Indian should pretend that he didn't like Atlanta because everybody stared at him?

If you're going into business and want to make a success of it the thing to do is to be just as near like the people who pay your salary want you to be as you can.

Why not?

There's plenty of time for slit skirts and shadow dresses and low cut necks—when business is over.

If the people you work for don't like that kind of clothes, hang them up in your closet in the darkest corner and wear the kind of clothes the people you work for do like—while you're working for them. What do you do at other times is not in the least their affair.

STICK TO BUSINESS.

Business is business, whether you're a teacher or stenographer—stick to your business and wear clothes that look as if you meant business—if you want to be a success.

As for the little girl with the slit skirt and the shadow gown—who wouldn't wear the kind of clothes the people where she was living liked—I hope she has a nice position somewhere where she can do just as she pleases all the time—and make a good salary at it.

I wonder what sort of a position that will be—don't you?

By CONSTANCE CLARKE

LIFE offered to her treasures, love and fame, gave me to choose, and out of the choice came the glad reality of dreams come true.

The thing men die for that is granted free.

Flashed with the moonlight of a great success I worshipped—came and counted all else less.

I probed no further than my wish for gain.

Now dreamed a deeper meaning back with pain.

But sometimes when unbidden memories call Dem Fate unfair that would not yield me all, I wonder, eyes lost in the blue above, What Life would mean if I had chosen Love.

Little Bobbie's Pa

Pa Writes a Song on Punkin Pie, and Ma Says He's Crazy.

I WAS reading last night about a man that had made nearly a hundred thousand dollars riding around songs and Ma.

I wouldn't be surprised, Pa, and most of the people is getting around nowadays anyhow.

You only say that because you can't ride songs yourself, and Ma. If you can't ride songs & they made a hit, you wud say that the people had excellent judgment. This poem that I was reading and that the man who made the hundred thousand dollars didn't ride any clever songs for people with lots of brains to laugh at & enjoy. They were little simple things, ritten about winding streams & golden dreams, & about my darling Kate at the old mill dam. That is the kind of songs that will sell.

HE TRIES A SONG.

I have often thought that I wud rite a song like that, and Pa. I never tried it, but I am going to try it now. I got an idea for such a song just yesterday at the dinner table. The pretty little waitress asked me if I wud have a punkin pie or a punkin pie & I said I wud have a punkin. Then she came back from the kitchen & said I am sorry I wud not have a punkin pie, she wud not get no punkin pie to-day. It almost made the tears cum in my eyes, and Pa, to see so much honesty on the part of a humble little waitress, so I am going to be honest now & rite a ballad about it. I am going to call it The Punkin Pie.

I don't think that is a good title for a song, and Ma. The title ought to be something more romantic like down in Texas by the Silvery Rio Grande.

But I am going to call it The Punkin Pie.

Then Pa went into the library & after awhile he came out with these words for his new song:

Two men sat slowly dining in a city far away, & while the two was dining both their hearts was lit & gay.

A pretty waitress waited on the two which there did dine, The maid wud dressed quite neatly though her garments wud be fine.

"Appel or punkin pie?" he said, in accents soft & sweet, "Appel or punkin pie?" the pretty waitress did repeat.

The men they both chose punkin in that city far away, & when they both had punkin, the waitress fair did say:

CHORUS.

We have got no punkin pie, Of that we are bereft, A dream from New Hampshire, Ate the last piece that was left.

You'll like it if you try, We have got no punkin pie, I cannot tell a lie!

WHAT MA SAID.

When Pa got thru reading his song to us, Ma just sat & looked at him.

I suppose you are speechless with admiration, and Pa.

Rubbie and Ma, your poor father is mighty. Maybe he will be all right after he gets a good rite & a song.

OCTOBER

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

DEAD leaves sift o'er the forest floor Where the gray squirrel barks near his beech-nut store.

The circling crow in the steel blue sky, The flock of mallards that roplane by, The partridge king with his beautiful drum, And the thrasher running with even hum, Tell of the days that are soon to come.

And ever, with a gentle sighing, The leaves are dying, dying, dying.

Down in the city's roar and grime, Down in the home of pomp and crime, Never a crimson leaf can fall, And Autumn is holding no festival, But dead leaves sift o'er the lighted streets.

Their gay rowses dapping like the wind's sheets.

And ever, with a hopeless sighing, More souls are dying, dying, dying.

Words and Their Meaning.

Jail—A place for malefactors of no wealth. Jailor—One who keeps a prison. Jailor—A man who puts his money in the bank instead of on his back. Jail—The handiest implement ever used to a hay field. Jail—A little thing that has enabled many a man to gain entrance to some of the finest homes in the country. Jail—A lock. Jail—A lock. Jail—A lock.

BEFORE a heavy glided frame stood and sat three ultra-smart young women. Close half-a-la "ear-ear"—murmurous necks fying out from them at surprising angles, coats like sacks sewed up in the wrong places and edged with a whole animal fur just where fur was never put before, and all three in the "mimic" skirt, the "pog-top" like a slim-necked decenter upside down, the skirt which wraps, and black, and hitches, and swashes flow full at the top but cinches close to the feet that flash in and out in silk and fur steel buckles.

The nineteen-thirteen Betty is an amazing and odd little figure to some people, but the most of us would have to step back or away from her a hundred years or so to see how strange and funny she is. We are used to her, you see?

I noticed, inside the glided frame was a painting like a jewel—a girl of seventeen or so—her skin like pearl, her breast crowded high with the stiff, tight, armor-like bodices that held an absurd little bow-knot at its sharp point, velvet bands on her wrists and about her throat, her hair powdered and piled like a white tower over a "fitted roll," curled in great ringlets like silver bracelets, and decorated on its far top with pearls and true lovers' knots. The girl in the chair smiled and munched her fat black hat farther over one eye. And what she said was—"TINY SHE TUNNY!"

I smothered my own peep-top skirt and laughed. I wondered if the painted heart of the little creature on the canvas wasn't fluttering with amused laughter. If her long gone black eyes did not find us "TUNNY" too! It was a place where the "pot" was calling the "kettle" black.

MEAT: BEING THE STORY OF A BOGUS VEGETARIAN

DECEMBER 24.—Jeannette is a vegetarian. Her aunt, an old lady from Florida, has persuaded her to give up meat, and, although she has shown me plainly enough that she loves meat, she refuses to marry me as long as I continue to eat on "the flesh of dead beasts."

Jeannette is a bewitching little creature, with laughing blue eyes and a mouth just made for kissing, and I love her too much to think of giving her up. On the other side, I am fond of a juicy steak, and it would be an awful sacrifice for me to become a vegetarian.

January 1.—I have taken the first step toward what Jeannette says is real health. I have eaten a dinner consisting mainly of rice pudding, macaroni and cheese. I can not say that I enjoyed it, but perhaps, in time, I may grow used to it.

January 10.—I have grown used to a diet which from the start seemed disgusting to me. I can not say that I like it as yet, but Jeannette says it has benefited me greatly. I am much thinner, and Jeannette says that my eyes are bright with intelligence. But the main thing is that Jeannette is my fiancée now, and she is to be married early in April. It is undoubtedly my great step toward health.

February 2.—Wherever I meet any of my friends, they tell me that I need a change of air. "You don't look as well," they all say. As a matter of fact, I don't feel exactly sick, but my appetite is gone. Sometimes, indeed, I do feel terribly hungry, but the bare thought of a waiter's hat or some other vegetable delicacy served to me at Jeannette's home kills my hunger.

February 20.—I am a mere shadow of my former self, and even when I am with Jeannette I can not shake off the dreadful feeling of depression.

March 1.—I have become an inveterate hypocrite. I never since February 21 I have stayed home, pretending to be sick, and I have been able to do so for many days. I dare not look into Jeannette's eyes now, for I feel that she would see through me. I have to look away from her as I used to.

Today, however, I have a letter from her asking me to call as soon as possible. I am so much more comfortable now, and I have expressed her surprise that I was better than when I last saw her. I am a hero.

shall have to confess the truth to her to-morrow.

March 4th.—I did not confess anything. I did not dare. I now eat a hearty dinner in a restaurant every day, soup, fish, roast, etc., but my conscience is always troubling me.

March 10th.—It is dreadful. I am beginning to put on flesh. Yesterday I went to Jeannette's home quite determined to tell her the truth. She received me rather about indifferently, as indeed she has done a couple of times before. Her aunt said that there was something about me that she was sure she had seen somewhere. Jeannette continued to be preoccupied. Evidently there is something on her mind. I wonder if she is suspecting me, for her eyes look so sad when she looks at me.

March 15.—Yesterday I had determined to tell Jeannette, but just as I was about to leave my home I received this letter from her, which relieved me of a heavy burden.

My own

Dear Richard,

How am I to tell you this dreadful thing, but I must tell you. I can not tell Jeannette anything about my conscience. I have deceived you, Richard. I have let you think that I still am a vegetarian, while it is more than two weeks since I began to eat meat again.

I wonder if you will forgive me, for her eyes look so sad when she looks at me.

JEANNETTE

Oh, Richard, perhaps you, who are so honest and truthful yourself, can not forgive me for my deceit, and perhaps I shall no longer be allowed to call myself your own.

I wonder if in all the world there was a happier man than I last night I did not tell Jeannette anything about myself. Women are so uncertain. June 20.—We have been married a little over two months and to-night I have confessed everything to my wife. Now I tell you that she forgave me on the spot.

GEORGIA TEAM SHIFTED; SMITH LOSES END JOB

Coach Cunningham, Not Satisfied With Varsity, Tries Out New Combination.

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 30.—After being drafted by the varsity 19 to 6 the day before, the varsity found itself again yesterday afternoon in the short scrimmage drill and in running games was showing that old drive and aggressiveness which was evident last week before the Virginia game.

Coach Cunningham has not been satisfied with the conduct of some of the players the last few days and is trying out another combination at several of the positions. Hitchcock has been back to end in place of Smith, who has got to fight for his berth again, and Conners and Purrell are stepping for the place in the line left vacant by the switching of Maclean to tackle when Henderson was injured.

Georgia expects a hard game with North Carolina Saturday, and Cunningham is driving his team at a terrific clip in preparation for it.

Bill Carey was greeted on the field by a cheer yesterday afternoon. He has in uniform for the first time since the Daboll game. He lined up as field several times and booting a few balls was in rare form.

Bill says he is ready to stand at left half the minute the coach says "kick." He says the word "kick" will not be before the Chapman game, though at the very instant.

Spotlight on the New Managers Hard Jobs for Lord and M'Cormick

By O. B. Keeler.

NOW, it would seem that the managerial situation in the Southern League is clearing up. Lord and M'Cormick, who appear to be the whole ticket in that district, while Harry M'Cormick, slated for Chattanooga, has the rail and probably will keep it, barring accidents.

That pretty nearly settles things, so far as we can see, with Mr. Lord transferring his office to the office of the Southern League in the city of Atlanta, where he is certainly an institution, promising to give Memphis a regular ball club next season.

Lord and M'Cormick turn into their new berths after checking out even better careers in the majors. Both have with the Philadelphia Athletics of 1930 and quite promptly dropped back to the minors. He looked up again in 1930, returning to the Atlanta Braves, that had been the last of his managerial career.

M'CORMICK also was a Philadelphia player, early in his career, but as a member of the Phillies instead of the Braves. He was in the line of the Braves, but as a member of the Braves, he was in the line of the Braves.

Tarheels Confident Of Holding Georgia Squad to Low Score

CHAPLAIN, N. C., Oct. 30.—

Playing defensive ball, North Carolina's football eleven in scrimmage yesterday was able to withstand the smashing tactics of Tarleton, the Princeton ex-captain, and George Thomas, a 1930 varsity star. Three touchdowns were credited the second eleven in a half hour's play.

Preceding the scrimmage a variety of forms of practice, informal formations were in uniform and the preparation for the contest assumes proportion. The Tarheels are confident of holding the Georgians to a low score.

Neither is a known quantity in the managerial berth, for the simple reason that neither has tried it.

On the two, Lord probably has the hardest row to hoe.

Mike Finn gave M'Cormick a near-win last season. Just about the nearest pennant winner ever seen. He left a fair nucleus for a ball club—himself, but only fair, for the girls at their last meeting. A ball club—himself, but only fair, for the girls at their last meeting.

M'CORMICK takes a club with the most disappointing manager in the South. He was a first-division club last season, but he was a first-division club last season.

Ritchie-Cross Bout Closed for Nov. 10. White Loses Fight

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Billy Gibson, manager of the Garden Athletic Club, announces that Champion Willie Ritchie and Leach Cross will box ten rounds at Madison Square Garden on Monday evening, November 10. The Garden Athletic Club will deposit a $2500 forfeit to-day.

The postponement from yesterday has been a costly one for Leach Cross. Harry Policy, manager of Ritchie, demanded half of the $1000 forfeit when the date was first changed from October 29 to November 10. Policy was backed up by Charlie White at Racine, Wis., November 10, for which he was to receive $1750, 30 percent of the gate receipts. This is the day selected for the Garden bout. In addition Cross must pay for two weeks extra training at Arverne.

For the presidency of the Federal League, he is hard to imagine anything more than a box score crowded in among the football stars.

A diagram of a football game is highly interesting, that is, if one is interested in solving puzzles.

While there is yet time, we hope Congress will pass a prohibitive tariff on football writers.

THE WEARIN' OF THE GREEN. Paddy dear, and did you hear the old Charlie Murphy on his way to the front on Irish ground?

Commodores Leave To Battle Virginia At Charlottesville

NASHVILLE, TENN., Oct. 30.—

With the shouts and cheers of a demonstration which in volume and enthusiasm exceeded any send-off ever given to a departing Vanderbilt eleven, nineteen Commodores, headed by Coach McGinnis, left last night for Charlottesville, where they play the University of Virginia Saturday.

A large number of students accompanied the team, as did Tom Brown, who broke a bone in his ankle in the Michigan game, but will view the game from the side line.

The team will not reach Charlottesville until Saturday morning, stopping off Thursday in East Rutherford and Friday in Lynchburg for practice. With Virginia having one of the best eleven in the history and Vanderbilt one of the weakest, Commodore supporters are particularly concerned about the McGinnis machine.

Much time has been spent in a defense for the forward pass against which in the Michigan game the Commodores put up such a weak resistance, and in working out new formations.

MADEROS' WIVES APPEAL TO U.S. FOR JUSTICE

Implore Consul to See That Husbands, Accused of Treason, Get Fair Trial.

Wives of Madero's brothers appeal to the United States for justice for their husbands, who are accused of treason. The appeal is made in a letter to the United States consul in Mexico City, which was received here today. The letter is signed by the wives of the two Madero brothers, who were arrested by General Huerta's forces at Tampico on a charge of treason, and are now being held in the United States. The letter states that the wives of the two Madero brothers are now in Mexico City, and are being held in the United States. They are being held in the United States because they are the wives of the two Madero brothers, who were arrested by General Huerta's forces at Tampico on a charge of treason, and are now being held in the United States.

Germany and France To Back Up U. S.

A special cable to the Atlanta Georgian from Berlin, Oct. 23.—Germany will back up the United States in its policy toward Mexico which may be announced from Washington. This was learned today from a source close to the Foreign Office and at the same time it was learned that Germany had received assurances from Paris that the French Government has taken a similar attitude toward the Mexican situation. Through the Channel of Affairs of the United States Embassy (Ambassador Gerard) then not having preceded the diplomatic credentials Secretary Bryan asked the German Government not to adopt any Mexican policy without first consulting the United States. This message was received and answered in a cordial spirit. German warships in Mexican waters, it is pointed out, do not indicate an independent policy on the part of Germany, but are merely for the protection of German interests and the American waters with the full consent of the United States.

Wives of Madero's Brothers Appeal to U. S.

A special cable to the Atlanta Georgian from Vera Cruz, Oct. 23.—Senators Darrigo and Madero, wives of the two Madero brothers, arrested by General Huerta's forces at Tampico on a charge of treason, appeal today to the United States for assistance in behalf of the accused men. Their plea was made personally to United States Consul Canada and United States Envoy John Lind. They were told that the American Government has already had representations to Mexico for both men. The women were hysterical when they arrived here from Tampico on a boat with their husbands, who are to be tried at Mexico City. They wept as they told Mr. Lind of their fears that both men would be assassinated as was their brother, ex-President Madero.

Diary Prestige Gone.

Polix Diaz, now being on board the United States battleship Louisiana, to which he was transferred from the submarine Wheeling, he has lost all the prestige he gained by aiding in the overthrow of Madero. Even friends of Diaz declare he lost by "betraying" his opportunity for becoming a national hero. They assert that by going to Mexico City he could have brought to his banner thousands of Mexicans who even yet are thrilled by the name of Porfirio Diaz, his uncle.

Princeton Put Out of Running by Dartmouth, White Yale

By W. J. McConaughy.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—None of the profound experts of our great fall news indicate that they are especially surprised or charmed over the results of Saturday's riot on the various battle grounds. Because of the most amazing of the century these struggles resembled naval maneuvers more than football games, but that doesn't change the scores.

The most important outcome from the college standpoint was that Princeton, which had been the favorite to win, was put out of the running by Dartmouth, White Yale and Harvard. Princeton's defeat was a surprise to many, but it was not unexpected by the experts. The Princeton team was not in the best of health, and the Harvard team was in the best of health. The Princeton team was not in the best of health, and the Harvard team was in the best of health.

The Harvard game was a masterpiece of strategy. The Harvard team was in the best of health, and the Princeton team was not in the best of health. The Harvard team was in the best of health, and the Princeton team was not in the best of health.

DIXIE LEAGUE SHUTS UP SHOP; COULDN'T RAI

Secretary Harry Farr Hints to Birmingham Man That "the Ship Has Sunk"

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 30.—The Dixie League has formed, scheduled its games, played them and had the pennant awarded even before the season of the World Series had been cleared from the atmosphere, according to reports.

The rumor came that they would break the record of the National League by winning the championship of the universe, and he had also during the National League season won fifteen straight games, tying the pitching record of the National League.

Local fans predicted all sorts of dire consequences for the Dixie League, but they were wrong. The Dixie League was not in the best of health, and the National League was in the best of health.

Marquard 'In Bad' in Gotham

Rube No Longer Popular Idol

By Sam Crane.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—There is a big difference in the prospects, reputation and standing of a ball player.

It was only twelve months ago that Rube Marquard had pretty near the center of the baseball stage, and his name took up much space in big broad letters on head lines in the sporting pages of the newspapers.

What he would do or would not do was heralded broadcast, and there was that time terrible admission for fear that he might adopt the "Rube" permanently and leave baseball.

Immediately after the World Series of 1912 was finished Rube and his team started out on a year-long tour of the country. Rube had won two games in the series between the Giants and the Yankees, and he had also during the National League season won fifteen straight games, tying the pitching record of the National League.

Sidelines on Sports

By A. H. C. MITCHELL

GORDIE STALLINGS says President Lynch, of the National League, is "only an umpire."

He means to convey the idea that Lynch has never developed beyond the range of the official in the line uniform who calls the balls and strikes, makes other decisions and can players who say things to him that they shouldn't say.

YEARS ago in the day of George Henshel, it was when George first came over there appeared in the ranks of the Boston Symphony Orchestra a French horn player, whose artistic skill on that wind instrument quickly attracted the attention of those in the audience who knew the difference between mediocre horn playing and really good horn playing.

As his reputation increased he began to change his wife, and finally at the zenith of his career he was married to a woman who was a first-class player on the violin.

AUBURN TEAM IN GOOD SHAPE FOR L.S.U. GAME

Coach Donahue's Eleven Has Not Used Forward Pass Once in Games This Season.

ATHENS, ALA., Oct. 30.—The Auburn football team is in good shape for the game with the hard L. S. U. team on Saturday. The football players are having a very busy week of it.

If there are no injuries this week, the squad ought to be in better shape for L. S. U. than for any team this season. With the coming games in view, it is well that this is so, as every player will find it necessary.

Hart, who has been out all season, had practically his first scrimmage in the A and M game. He stood the test in good shape, and while he showed a lack of practice in taking his center, he showed drive and speed. Arnold is suffering with a very bad finger that is very slowly responding to treatment. The big man in the center of the line is rapidly getting down to his best playing weight, and is improving speed as a result.

Wednesday was given over entirely to offensive work in which the varsity returned new plays and then practiced their against the scrub defense. On the whole, they worked fairly well. Auburn has not used the forward pass so far this season, as it has not been necessary. It will be necessary to have something of that kind in readiness for the coming games, because the running game will not always be able to score.

FRANK COUNSEL PREPARED TO APPEAL

Lawyers Announce They Will Carry His Fight to the Last Ditch.

Attending Speaker Burrell, of the House of Representatives, wrote to the recently, respectfully, and without hesitation and general standing of some of the affiant, a circumstance, Frank's attorneys contended, which left no room for doubt that Burrell had been correctly quoted and was violently provoked against the client. However, the State has since it has fully proved Burrell un-justified.

Judge Russell's attitude on this contention will not be known until Friday morning. Any attempt to force a final decision at this time is a mere guess, as he will give no hint of his stand in the matter. It is believed that much of his time will be devoted to a close investigation of the important ground for a new trial.

Judge Russell, as soon as he renders his decision in the matter, will return from his position on the Stone Mountain Circuit and will become a member of the State Court of Appeals, to which bench he was appointed some time ago by Governor John M. Slaton. Judge Ben Hill, now at the Appellate bench will become the judge of the new Atlanta Circuit. Solicitor Field, of the Stone Mountain Circuit, will become presiding judge of the new Atlanta Circuit. Solicitor George N. Slaton, of the Stone Mountain Circuit, will become presiding judge of the new Atlanta Circuit.

Fight to Last Ditch.

An immediate appeal to the Supreme Court of the State will be made by Frank's attorneys to prevent the motion for a new trial in the case. The attorneys are closing argument Wednesday afternoon and will then proceed to draw his last breath or so long as his positive conviction in Frank's innocence remained. The lawyer indicated that the fight in the courts would be prolonged until every legal recourse had been tried. No advantage would be overlooked and the continued battle to save the factory superintendent from the gallows.

His lawyers and his friends maintain their assertions of his innocence and in his absolute guiltlessness of the charges of immorality and conduct against him, accusations which are regarded as having a large part in obtaining his conviction on the murder charge.

"While I believe in his innocence," Attorney Rosner, of Atlanta, said, "I believe as long as I live and as long as I have a breath in my throat, I will continue to fight for his freedom."

"There will come a time when the people will wonder how it was possible that a man of such high character and high standing in the community should have been convicted of such a crime. I believe that the people will come to the conclusion that the man was innocent and that the conviction was a miscarriage of justice."

Convicted on Perjury Charge.

Attorney Rosner made the startling statement to Judge Russell that he was not convicted on the evidence that he was the murderer of Jim Conroy, but that he was convicted on the evidence that he was the murderer of Jim Conroy, but that he was convicted on the evidence that he was the murderer of Jim Conroy.

MISS RUSSELLS NOT INTEREST IN "THE RIVALS"

Sheridan's Play Suffers by Comparison With Fine Company's Previous Offerings.

By TARLETON COLLIER.

There is no necessity for the worship of a fetish in this lighted, brightened twentieth century. A play should be "The Rivals," written by Richard Brinsley Sheridan, and presented by Miss Anne Russell, and her worthy company of players, is not enough to open the gates for an unrestrained tide of extravagant performances.

Throughout the series of performances by Miss Russell's company there has been the disposition to accept Goldsmith and Sheridan, and to play should be "The Rivals," written by Richard Brinsley Sheridan, and presented by Miss Anne Russell, and her worthy company of players, is not enough to open the gates for an unrestrained tide of extravagant performances.

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter the acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it is excreted. If the kidneys are weak, the acid is not properly filtered and the bladder is irritated, causing a burning, stinging sensation, or a constant desire to urinate. This is a sign of kidney and bladder weakness. To relieve this condition, take a course of Kidney and Bladder salts. These salts will flush the kidneys, neutralize the acid, and strengthen the bladder. They are easy to take, and will give you quick relief.

35 SEEK PLACES IN NEW CITY COURT

Thirty-five candidates for the five judgeships of the new Atlanta Municipal Court are keeping hot after the Superior Court judges, who have the appointing power. Although he has not qualified for the Fulton County Superior Court, Judge Ben Hill has found himself greatly sought after by judgeships, while the other judges declare every man in Atlanta apparently is after one of the places.

Indications point strongly to Eugene D. Thomas as chief justice of the Municipal Court, while the four associate judgeships seem to lie between Judge J. B. Riley, Judge J. K. Orr, T. O. Harwood, J. F. McClelland, D. C. Johnson and Luther Rosner, Jr. There is talk of a dark horse and two getting in at the last moment and landing one of the places.

T. C. Miller as clerk of the court and Charles Lewis as chief clerk are regarded as probabilities.

Some persons are trying to spread abroad the idea that it is useless for a workman to try to save money because if he does save, his wages will be reduced proportionately. This is false reasoning. The thrifty man is the best workman and all employers recognize the fact as one of them has said: "We are always glad that an employee has a savings account, for then we know that there is a strong incentive to him in developing his character and adding to his integrity of purpose." BANQUETS TO PUSH GEORGIA PRODUCTS

State-Wide Observance of Special Day To Be Decreed by Governor Slaton.

Georgia products will be in the limelight on Tuesday, November 18, when a State-wide observance of "Georgia Products Day" will be held under the auspices of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce.

In every city in Georgia where there is a branch of the State Chamber of Commerce, a banquet will be held on this day, at which only Georgia-made products will be served. The leading men of each city will be present at these banquets. They will wear Georgia-made cravats, Georgia-made shoes and Georgia-made shirts.

The importance of patronizing the Georgia manufacturing plants will be urged. To this effect Governor Slaton will issue a proclamation setting November 18 as "Georgia Products Day," and the Mayors of the various cities should be heard all over the State.

The State Chamber will endeavor to furnish one of more out-of-town speakers for each banquet. In addition to the local speakers, the general arrangement for the celebration is in the hands of Charles D. McKinney, of Decatur, who is acting secretary-manager of the State organization.

Inasmuch as there are nearly 100 local branches of the chamber and throughout the State of Georgia, the clatter of the banquets should be heard all over the State.

BETTER PAY FOR CITY TEACHERS IS LIKELY

Councilman Knight Back of Proposition to Give Them More Than Usual Increase.

Councilman C. D. Knight said Wednesday that he had received assurance of support from many members of Council for the movement to increase the salaries of school teachers more than the allotted 5 per cent that is given each year.

Councilman Knight and Alderman C. H. Kelley have prepared a wage scale which would raise the minimum salaries of $17.50 per month to $19. It provides for an increase in the salaries of all teachers receiving less than $16 a month. The plan would have been presented to the Salaries Committee of Council Tuesday afternoon, but the meeting was adjourned for two weeks.

"I am heartily in favor of increasing the pay of teachers and also of the city employees," said Councilman Knight. "The employees of the city who are receiving less than $16 a month are the ones who are doing the real work though their salaries would indicate in this time of the high cost of living that they were doing mighty little service."

In these increases the negro teachers must be included. I am informed that some of them are teaching more than 100 pupils for $16 a month.

"Under an ordinance of Council the teachers have been receiving a raise of 5 per cent per year for the past several years. Superintendent of Schools William M. Station and members of the Board of Education have insisted that this amount should be increased to put Atlanta on a par with other cities of her class, and they have succeeded in getting promises of additional several lines.

Indications are that the Salaries Committee is going to support the Knight in urging more money for the teachers. All the recommendations of the Salaries Committee will go to the Finance Committee, which that body starts making up the new budget in January.

ROPER, OKLA., Oct. 29.—Your now famous disappearance fifteen years ago caused this court to declare you legally dead and your $20,000 estate was sold to satisfy debts," said the court to John Stepan, an Indian, today.

"The court," Stepan learned last week, declaring that fifteen years ago he and his wife, Mary, had left the land and went to live among Mexicans in the frontier," said Councilman Knight. "The employees of the city who are receiving less than $16 a month are the ones who are doing the real work though their salaries would indicate in this time of the high cost of living that they were doing mighty little service."

BOYS' CIVIC CLUB BEING PUSHED BY JONES

Expert in Charge of Junior Chamber of Commerce Plan to Call Meeting Soon.

With the return of Harrison Jones to Atlanta the preliminary work of organizing the Junior Chamber of Commerce, through which it is hoped to train the rising generation of Atlanta to a realization and appreciation of their duties as citizens, is rapidly being gotten under way.

Mr. Jones, who is chairman of the general committee of 15 appointed by President Wilmer L. Moore, of the Chamber of Commerce, to have charge of the organization work, said Wednesday morning that he expects to call a meeting of his committee some time this present week.

Mr. Jones has prepared a constitution and by-laws, which, while it has not been officially ratified by the general committee, has received the endorsement of as many as have seen it. By its terms the male pupils of the public and private schools are classified, according to grades, into three divisions, A, B and C. It is probable that the boys will elect a general president of their organization, with a vice president and a secretary for each school.

CALLS WILSON'S SPEECH 'EPOCHAL'

Secretary Daniels Tells Atlantians "Mobile Declaration" Reiterates Monroe Doctrine.

There was a decided echo of interest in Atlanta Wednesday following the brief talk made Tuesday before by Joseph Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, who passed through here on his way from Mobile to Raleigh, N. C.

Mr. Daniels, referring to the speech of President Wilson Monday in Mobile, said he considered it a "special address."

"It will go down in history as the 'Mobile Declaration,'" Mr. Daniels asserted. "It makes plain to all nations and to ourselves that the Monroe Doctrine still is our pillar of cloud and fire."

"Since the United States acquired Porto Rico, the Philippines and the Panama Canal Zone, there has been a suspicion that we were falling into the ways of other nations; that we were using the Monroe Doctrine to keep other nations out of the Latin-American republics, but that, when we chose we would play our hand in the game at any time and in any way."

"The speech at Mobile should set at rest any suspicion on that point. It shows Europe where we stand, and should encourage a closer and more satisfactory relation with practically every one of the great powers."

Then Anson ran back toward the girl, whom Anson had held by the owner of the her-athem.

"Take your hands off that lady, or I will hurt you," said Philip, and there was that in his emphatic order which produced no delay.

The stranger dropped his restraining hand, but shouted furiously:

"What right do you interfere? I am only offering the lady some assistance."

Philip glared him.

"What do you say, madam?" he inquired, somewhat sternly, for the woman had to trust any of them.

"Will you creep my car?" It is there that I have secured that neither of these men shall follow you."

She stood her ground, came nearer to him.

"I believe you," she murmured. "I thank you from my heart. It is too pleasurable that such wretches can exist as these two menacing gentlemen, who stooped to such artifice against a helpless woman."

"Most fortunately I saw you leaving the Regent's Hall," he recalled. "This car was waiting for you, and you exit. The man refused to let me see you in my presence. The others had looked in a brougham. Do you know them?"

"No. I have never to my knowledge seen either of them before in my life. How came you?"

"I happened to hear your address. I will write to you and explain. On now, be quickly interested, for Victor and his friend were approaching them after a hasty conference."

"Leave me to deal with these anxious alone! Not if I can defend myself. I can help you. I will serve for assistance. There are too many of them for you to resist them single-handed."

Philip nodded afterward that she flashed in her eyes. There was a question in the gesture with which she pointed to the engaged brougham driver, who had climbed from his perch, and was running to join his employer. This was a new experience for Philip, and the blood leaped in his veins at the girl's courageous words. But he laughed in his pleasant, musical way. "Men who would attack a defenseless woman? He said, 'Are you crazy?'"

"Where were a man's parts is needed."

tion, but Philip was a persistent person.

"I do not remember another day in my life previously," he said, "when so many fortunate events grouped themselves together in such a curious relationship. Even this adventure is a sequel to a prior incident. Just before I joined in the chase after you I had purchased some tickets for Jonkney's musical. The strangest item of all is that I was practically waiting along from the direction in which I live when my attention was drawn to the cabman's behavior."

"Good gracious!" she protested, "am I taking you out of your way? I thought you surely happened to be driving after us through the park."

She trusted no confidence. She had heard strictly to the affair of the moment, and he had no option but to follow her out.

"I do not think I have ever been in Regent's Park before."

"What an amazing circumstance that you should gallop off in such a fashion to the rescue of an unknown woman. I mean."

"That, again, is original, or nearly so."

"Are you a Londoner?"

"To some extent—a little while each year. I live mostly on the sea."

"Oh, that accounts for your gallantry. You are a sailor."

"A sailorman," corrected Philip. "How delightful. I have not even seen the sea for ages. One has to work so hard nowadays to obtain recognition. I did not object to the work, for I love music, but the bread and butter aspect is disagreeable, and—and—you have learned to-night, how even the small amount of publicity I have achieved brings with it the risk of insult."

"By the way," he said, quietly, arriving not to add to the excitement under which she was certainly laboring. "one of these men is named Victor Grier. You caught him?"

"Thank you. How did you ascertain it?"

"The cabman told me. He knew me."

"The cabman knew you?"

"Yes. I fly about town in hansom. I am too late to walk."

He regretted the slip. He was known to the tribe of Jesus on account of his generosity to their charities; moreover, was not one of the order his home-keeper?

"The girl laughed, with a delightful shiver that relieved the tension."

"You acted like an indignant person," she cried. "Do you know, I felt that you would have banged the heads of those men together in another instant."

"Their vehicle slackened pace, and craved toward the pavement in a quiet street."

"Here I am at home," she said, and Philip assisted her to alight.

"Oh, my master!" she said, suddenly. "I left it in that horrid cab!"

Philip reassured a smile.

"Tell me your name," he said, "and I will recover it for you, by the morning."

"Are you sure? Oh, what a trouble I have been. How good you are."

"It is not the least trouble. I took the cabman's number."

"Indeed, indeed. I am very grateful to you. My name is Evelyn Artherley. I would ask you to call some day and see my mother, but—but—"

"You do not wish her to hear of your."

Be Patient with Fools---That Is a Most Important Art

If It Were Not for "the Fools," the Wise Man Would Be Less Prosperous. He Might Worry.
(Copyright, 1913.)

There lived in the West a very wise, powerful man, whose son, just out of college, was running a newspaper.

The son, in his early twenties, complained bitterly to his father that he had frequently to deal with fools who could not grasp an idea.

The father replied solemnly, "You must learn to be patient with fools, my son. There are many of them; they form a large part of the population."

"If you don't understand them, you can't understand the population. And, my boy, you and I might not be as well off as we are if there were fewer fools in the world."

There was wisdom boiled down into few words, readers. Take the wisdom to yourself, and make it useful.

Let us all, dearly beloved, learn to be patient with fools---and especially with those that in our majestic self-conceit we mistakenly THINK are fools. It happens sometimes, in this queer world, that the individual we take for a fool is something quite different.

All of those who looked at Newton, the greatest mathematician that ever lived, said, when he was a boy, that he was a fool and always would be. He was fusing in the sand, instead of doing something else. They didn't know that he was working out mathematical problems in the dust with a piece of stick.

Michelson, of the University of Chicago, one of the greatest living scientists and winner of the Nobel prize, went to Annapolis with other young gentlemen, studying to be a first naval officer. The other young gentlemen nicknamed him "Feeble Effort."

Nobody will remember any of THEM, unless it is because they were at the Naval Academy WITH MICHELSON. He corrected men's knowledge as to the speed of light, and thus corrected all measurements of distances in space. And, incidentally, he is just concluding experiments testing "the rigidity of the earth," which demonstrates the fact that this earth is twice as rigid as it would be if made of solid steel.

Interesting to those that have brains.

Let us, as we have said, learn to be patient with fools, and also, whenever possible, let us learn to realize that it is ourselves and not the other man who is a fool---very often.

There are fools in the world---many of them, millions of them. But there is only one real kind of fool. And he is the man who is not patient, free from self-conceit, or willing to learn.

The man who will learn and who will be patient is never a fool.

Be patient with fools, for practicing patience alone is of the greatest possible value.

Genius is nothing but patience, AND POWER.

The patience without the mental power can not produce genius.

But the mental power, no matter how great, can not translate itself into the work that we call genius unless it has "the infinite capacity for taking pains," which means patience.

Be patient with fools, for they are the majority. And we must make our living from the majority, get our applause from the majority, and win our victory over the majority.

Be patient with fools, also, dearly beloved wise men, because this world would be uncomfortable for you, wise men, if there were not so many fools in it.

There are many successful men, and ninety-nine out of one hundred are really successful! BECAUSE NOBODY GAVE THEM SERIOUS COMPETITION.

You can put your finger on the map, and hit any little town, and find in it a prosperous, successful newspaper.

GIVE IT COMPETITION and you won't see it in six months. And in the same town, on Main street, you will find a very prosperous, successful merchant.

Give him the taste of such competition as a bigger man could give him---and you might soon find him driving the bigger man's delivery wagon, if he hadn't saved up money.

We succeed, because the fools are plentiful, soft and easy, just as the woodman's ax sinks deep, because the trees are plentiful, soft and easy.

Give the ax steel to cut, and the story will be different, and the chopper's arms will ache.

Take away the fools, the men who think they can succeed without effort, and life will become a harder, more difficult problem.

Study the fool; be patient with him. If you know him, you know more than half of the human race.

And study yourself, AND DON'T BE PATIENT WITH YOURSELF, and don't be afraid to call yourself a fool! BY HIMSELF many times a day.

Your own criticism should weed out the fool features of your own nature, just as the brutality of the Middle Ages weeded out the fools and the drunkards from among the people.

Never call your brother "Racah," which means "Thou Fool."

If you call your brother "Thou Fool," you will go to hell, as the Bible tells you, and after you get there the things that will happen to you would make a whole moving picture by themselves.

But do not hesitate to call yourself "Thou Fool." There isn't one of us that does not need to be called "fool" BY HIMSELF many times a day.

Be merciful with yourself, merciful to others, PATIENT WITH FOOLS ABOVE ALL.

SEE ARTICLE BY DOROTHY DIX BELOW.

WHICH?

THE picture which accompanies this article shows a young girl standing at the cross roads of her life, trying to decide which turn she shall take.

In one direction, for a little way at least---and that is as far as the eyes of youth can see---the path stretches alluringly before her.

She Sees Herself Clad in Clothes That Set Off Her Beauty.

She sees herself dressed in the fine clothes that would set off her youth and beauty as a frame does a pretty picture, the kind of clothes that she's seen sold over the counter to other women, but has never had herself. She sees herself wearing "creations" instead of hand-me-down suits, sewing into gilded restaurants where there are shaded lights and music, and other gorgeously dressed women eating "dainty food."

She sees herself rolling about in automobiles instead of hanging on to street car straps. She sees herself eating her breakfast in bed instead of punching the time clock at 8 o'clock in some store or office. She sees ease and luxury, and all the things that her ardent youth craves so passionately, waiting for her to take if only she chooses "the primrose path."

And when she looks down the other bend of the road, the strait and narrow road, she sees nothing before her but hard traveling. She sees poverty, and self-denial, and hard work. She sees herself growing old, and faded, and gray like little Miss Smith in the office where she works, a woman whose meager pay envelope barely enables her to meet the necessities of life and has never given her any of its thrills. Or if she marries she sees herself following in her mother's footsteps, the poor, tired, family drudge, with always a baby in one hand, and a frying pan in the other, the one of the household who bears the heaviest burden, and wears the shabbiest clothes, and works the longest hours, and receives the least appreciation.

And so the poor young girl, with her pretty face, and the avid desires of her youth for pleasure, stands at the cross roads and asks herself which way she shall go, and if it pays to be good?

Take the road, little sister, the road, little sister. Look a little closer at what is called the primrose path, and you will see that it is nothing but one of the ways blood red.

The Apparently Gay Life Is Only a Bitter Mockery.

It is to the mockery, and dull thought, so that they may forget for an hour what they once were, and the sort of creature they are doomed to become. It is sadly true that there is nothing else in the world so little gay as what is termed the gay life. Listen to its laughter. It is more noise, the crackling of thorns under a pot, with no ring of merriment in it. The women who lead it never smile, for there is no happiness there. You will see on their faces fear and bitter mockery, and bold insolence, and jealousy and rage, and every evil passion that can tear the human heart, but you will never see that look of calm peace and content that shows that a woman has got for her soul's desire, and that all is well with her.

If you take the primrose path, little sister, you may get a few fine clothes, a little rich food, a little luxury, but do not forget that you will get other things above all she has her own self-respect, and that is the one thing that is absolutely necessary to any real happiness. As long as we can look ourselves in the face with a clean conscience none of us can be utterly miserable.

The girl who chooses the better way may look forward to the supreme happiness of life, that of being married to a good man who loves and honors her, and to having little children into whose clear eyes she is not afraid to look, and to establishing a home over which no shadow of a "past" rests.

Take the Right Turn of the Road---It Pays To Be Good.

That is the girl who takes the wrong turn of the road. No matter how she repents, or how she tries to retrace her steps, there is always the haunting ghost of what she has been to dash her life.

Take the right turn of the road, little sister. It pays to be good.

By Dorothy Dix

Also, you will see, a tortured conscience, and you will get shame, you will get fear always with you, and you will get a little of the life of the man who has no other woman ever knows it, their tears when they have wept of them, and you shall have a brief life span, for that is the motto of the primrose path, "a short life and a merry one."

And if the primrose path is not so alluring at short range as it appears at a distance, neither is the straight and narrow path so hard and barren in reality as it looks in prospect. The woman who treads it may wear home-spun, but no other woman draws her skirts away from her as if she were a leper, she has the respect and admiration of those about her, and, believe me, little sister, these are a better garment in which to be clothed than the silks and satins that a woman has bought at the price of her soul.

Above all she has her own self-respect, and that is the one thing that is absolutely necessary to any real happiness. As long as we can look ourselves in the face with a clean conscience none of us can be utterly miserable.

Wireless Telephony, Now an Established Fact, Will Make It Possible for the Human Voice Soon to Travel Around the World.

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

THERE is no longer the slightest doubt that the time is coming, and perhaps close at hand, when we shall habitually talk to one another at distances of hundreds, or even thousands, of miles without the intervention of any wires connecting the speaker with the hearer. Wireless telephony is an established fact, but the apparatus still needs development before it can come into general, everyday use and displace the existing telephonic system.

There is something weirdly impressive in the thought of transferring the feeble human voice over mountains and seas, and making it virtually encircle the earth. Man speaks and his planet hears! At his command a little electric demon transmits his voice into waves that traverse the ether with the speed of light, carrying the voice with them, locked up in their undulations. In less than one second and a third they could bear it to the moon. In about three minutes they could carry it to the planet Mars.

At his command a little electric demon transmits his voice into waves that traverse the ether with the speed of light, carrying the voice with them, locked up in their undulations. In less than one second and a third they could bear it to the moon. In about three minutes they could carry it to the planet Mars.

There is something weirdly impressive in the thought of transferring the feeble human voice over mountains and seas, and making it virtually encircle the earth. Man speaks and his planet hears! GRAND BATTLE ON SLATE WHEN MOGULS CLASH

One Swell Old Scrap Due Over Election of President in National League.

By Frank G. Menke.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Those who relish the sight of a gory and exciting "battle royal" may begin saving their pennies today toward buying a railroad ticket that will bring them to New York in time for the National League meeting in December.

A "battle royal," it may be explained, is one of those affairs that are frowned upon by polite society. A large number of combatants are placed into one small ring, and at once proceed to batter each other into submission. At the start the little fellows band together and make a combined attack upon the biggest contestant. After they have put him out of the way they set about hammering the next biggest man into a state of coma.

The rules of a "battle royal" do not bar hitting in clinches, hitting below the belt, nor do they bar a man from hitting any of the persons in the ring at any time. Because of this fact, it often happens that one small man, seeing a nice opening, will step in and slug the biggest of the big fellows. The smaller slugs a distinct advantage in this way, as he thus eliminates another of the combatants, and has a good chance of winning, the rules providing that the victor is the man who remains on his feet the longest.

Have Had Many Fights. The meeting of the old league migrates in its years have provided some lively bouts, but most of them have been fought under the Marquis of Queensbury rules, which are intended to eliminate excessive brutality. But the coming session promises to be one of the liveliest in baseball history and one which will make the others seem like church socials.

From this distance it looks as if the battles first of all will try to send down Harry Herrmann, owner of the Cincinnati Reds, for the fall out. He sizes up the pre-battle "dog" as the most likely winner in the battle over the league presidency.

Herrmann is out openly in his fight against the re-election of Tom Lynch, president of the league. The lion has regarded Lynch as a man unqualified for the position, and he has his own candidate—Robert W. Brown, a Louisville sporting editor.

A year ago Herrmann was mighty proud and threatened a mighty upthrust in National League affairs. He was not elected. Color heads in the organization got to work, and he is said, scolded him with the remark that if he withdrew Brown's name they in 1912 they would elect him.

But Brown was elected without opposition in 1912.

And now, according to reports, those who did the grunting last year have forgotten all about it and have decided to vote for Lynch. All of which has angered Herrmann, and he is out for a battle to the death.

He claims that a number of league presidents have assured him that they will vote for Brown, but Harry, mindful of the broken promises of the past, is not counting on putting Brown through without a fight.

Friends of Lynch declare he has got a good thing, and that he will win, but they are not so sure. Lynch is said to be a man of great energy and ability, and that those who oppose Lynch are going so only because of their interests and that they have not the league's interests at heart.

FOOD FOR SPORT FANS

By GEORGE E. PHAIR.

THE PLAYERS' FRATERNITY.

(Some by A. B. Scribner.)

Welcome, Little Baseball Frit.

With your load of news.

Is it any wonder that

All we scamps exult?

That we need to write.

Sales and trades and sales

Morning, noon and night.

Never more will outline legends

Fill me with delight.

Magazines with their dark intrigues

Yell for space in vain.

Welcome with your notes and strife,

Little Baseball Frit.

For you saved a writer's life

When you came to bat.

All your clever and your fuss

Fill me with delight.

If we wish to keep on thus,

Fight, ye devils! Fight!

One thing the Players' Fraternity

Overlooked is a clause preventing big league players from being transferred to St. Louis without their consent.

Jack Hendricks was given a bonus of $1000 for turning out a winning team in the Western League. Now, in the National League—but what's the use?

The U. S. A. will not allow Carroll to fight back to play football in the Northern team, but does the Northern team play football?

At this present rate of speed, Tri

Speaker is due to catch up with the world tourists about the time they reach Cairo.

White hopes having crippled the boxing game in New York, the only way they can square themselves with the public is to cripple each other.

YES, WHY?

We offer a reward to Packey McFarland.

The classical well-known under the skin.

Oh, he is a wonder who puts them

all under.

But why won't he fight with a fellow his size?

Once in a while a college correspondent starts the football team by an-ouncing that the football team is in good shape.

While these football experts are guzzling at the weights of the teams of athletes who lent the Athletics

make the same guess.

Hugh Jennings, a baseball manager who always has borne a reputation for honesty, has gone into politics in Scranton, Pa.

Norwich, Conn., held a street parade in honor of Danny Murphy, one of the athletes who lent the Athletics

his moral support during the late series.

Some day we may pick up a paper

without reading the announcement that somebody else is building a cup defender.

THERE'S A REASON.

The player said "I can't keep my eye upon the ball.

With wonder sign when the fence?

It took a passing glance to make the reason clear.

It was a sign in center field exploiting larger beer.

'Kid' Young and Lee To Box at Athens

A change has been made in the boxing show to be staged at Athens, Ga.,

on Wednesday, November 5. Charley

Lee has been substituted for "Kid"

Brown against "Kid" Young in one of the all-star bouts.

Young and Lee have been rivals for some time, and the Athens promoter thinks the bout will draw much more than a Young-Brown box, as the latter has never defeated anyone of note.

Frank Baker and Jack Payne will clash in the four-round mid. This should prove a good fight, as it will be a cover fight in Baker against a tough, rugged righter in Payne. Both bouts are billed to go ten rounds.

FORGOTTEN.

A ball player got in the grocery store

unhappily looking the sporting page over.

"Tues easy to see that his feelings

were sore

From the frozen that he wore on his brow.

"A few weeks ago I was famous," he cried.

"In every country where he made a name

My name was reckoned on every side.

But nobody mentions it now.

"A few weeks ago in a potted hotel

I was packing in food like a regular swell.

While a cabaret dame with a voice

like a bell

Was singing a fearful tune.

"Now pipe the misfortune to which I

like a bell

A hero one day and the next day a bum."

Thus speaking, the player released

himself

By sniping a handful of prunes.

THE MONEY GRABBERS.

"What is the pull for turning out for?"

said Filer on parade.

"The baseball game, the baseball

game," the Color Sergeant

said.

"Why does the public look so bored?"

said Filer on parade.

"The baseball game, the baseball

game," the Color Sergeant

said.

For they still insist on playing though the schedule now is over.

For the days are growing shorter

And the winter blizzards roar.

And it makes a fellow wonder if he sees a baseball score.

When he opens up the paper in the morning.

It is estimated that when Charlie

Comiskey has returned from the world tour he will be able to say: "Let's have another," in fourteen languages.

The lot of the baseball scribe is not a supremely happy one, but what if he had to make out a box score in Japanese?

Boxing promoters in Wisconsin are losing so much money that they may find it necessary to quit the game and earn an honest living.

Commy refuses to cancel the world

tour, demonstrating that he is a game

guy and a glutton for punishment.

It is said that Bill Dahlen is not worried about losing the job in Brooklyn,

but why worry about losing a job in Brooklyn?

Morris Rath has been hitting the ball hard on the world tour, but he has not been batting against American League pitching.

Newspaper Men to Play Golf Handicaps Issued for Tourney

THE committee arranging the Newspaper Men's Golf Tournament met to-day in the office of

John Puschall, of The Journal, and in conference with George Adair, the originator of the idea and host of the tourney, plans were made for the play, and the first pairings were drawn for the 12 entries.

Play is to begin Thursday, October 30, and the first round must be finished not later than Saturday night to determine the two flightings which will play for the handsome trophy offered by Mr. Adair.

The sixteen leaders will form the other flight to contest for another trophy. The tournament is to be played on the course of the Atlanta

Athletic Club at East Lake, the club

issuing cards to entrants not numbers of the club.

After some discussion, a new system of handicapping was adopted.

"The object of this handicapping,"

W. L. Halstead stated in proposing it,

"is to make it as hard as possible for the really good players to beat the others. No possible handicap in the way of strokes will be as effective as a straight handicap of a certain number of holes."

And so it was decided to rate four of the players at scratch and give the others varying handicaps, up to eight holes. W. R. Thibault, admitted the star player of the list, was further handicapped by "plus 4," which means that the redoubtable "Tee"

must give a scratch man four holes

if he encounters him, while if Thibault meets a scratch man, he is to give him four holes. The tourney will be a four-day affair, with the finals on Saturday and Sunday.
